STEP III 2006 Question 4 — Examiner Report

This question started with the use of function notation together with an appreciation of the chain rule. This would be unfamiliar to many candidates but at the same time accessible to those who had understood the chain rule well. The later parts required confident use of function notation in a creative way.